

Where Colors Meet: A Tapestry of Black & White: Stories of Courage, Connection & Transformation

By SISTers of Seeking Insights for Solutions
(published September 19, 2024)

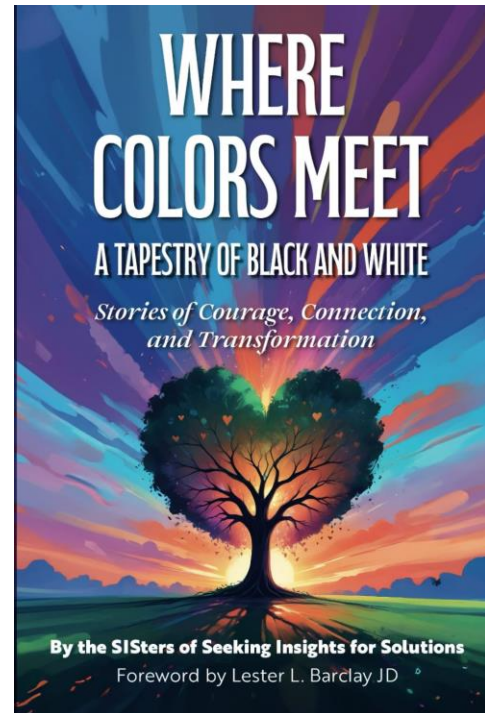

This compelling anthology delves deep into the complex themes of race relations, equality, and social justice. Created by Seeking Insights for Solutions (SIS), a group of women united by a shared mission of fostering understanding and respect across racial lines, this collection brings together personal stories that explore both our differences and our shared humanity. Through the diverse voices of SIS members, this book invites readers to ignite empathy, spark meaningful discussions, and inspire lasting change in their communities.

Twenty-six of the SIS members contributed their stories to this anthology. They reside in Florida, but most are from other parts of the U.S. and beyond, including Africa, Canada, Central America, and the Caribbean. With careers in journalism, social work, psychology, business, education, medicine, government, technology, and art, they have brought a variety of experiences to bear as they seek insights for solutions.

Praise for Where Colors Meet:

- "SIS is trying to create bridges, not only to each other, but hopefully to our society."
- "The stories will both break your heart and fill you with hope for the future."
- "This book will foster an environment for a healthy discussion on a sensitive topic."
- "What truly stands out is the book's ability to gently push each reader to embrace kindness, empathy, and respect for everyone they encounter."

The hostess for our discussion said, "It is the common threads among us that bind us. SIS is a spark that will light the fire toward change, uniting us all. Where Colors Meet is sure to inspire others to adopt and implement the SIS model."
